

Getting an independent assessment and applying for the NDIS

We want to know what you think

Easy Read version

How to use this paper

The National Disability Insurance Agency (NDIA) wrote this paper. When you see the word 'we', it means the NDIA.

We have written this paper in an easy to read way.

We use pictures to explain some ideas.

We have written some words in bold.

This means the letters are thicker and darker.

We explain what these words mean.

There is a list of these words on page 21.

This Easy Read paper is a summary of another document.

You can find the other document on our website.

You can ask for help to read this paper. A friend, family member or support person may be able to help you.

What's in this paper?

What is this paper about?	3
What are independent assessments?	4
Why do we want to use independent assessments?	6
How will independent assessments work?	8
Making independent assessments work for you	11
Applying to take part in the NDIS	12
What if you don't agree with your independent assessment?	13
How to tell us what you think	15
Questions for you to think about	15
Other changes to the NDIS	19
More information	20
Word list	21

What is this paper about?

We want to make the NDIS easier to use.

We also want to make sure it is:

- fair
- consistent.

When something is consistent, it is done the same way every time.

As part of this, we are going to start using independent assessments.

We explain independent assessments on page 4.

We are also going to make some changes to the way you apply to take part in the NDIS.

But before we make these changes, we want to find out what the community thinks.

This includes:

- people with disability
- families and carers
- disability organisations.

In this paper, we:

- tell you about the changes we want to make
- ask you questions
- explain how you can tell us what you think.