

Ekspertarvamus Luunja valla haldusterritoriaalse korralduse võimaliku muutmise kohta

Luunja vald ei täida haldusreformi seadusega pandud miinimumsuurusekriteeriumi 5000 elanikku, seisuga 01.01.2017 oli Luunja vallas registreeritud 4251 elanikku.

Luunja vald kuulub Statistikaameti analüüsi¹ põhjal Tartu linna lähivööndisse (joonis 1).

Joonis 1. Tartu toimepiirkond. Allikas: Statistikaamet (2014) Toimepiirkondade määramine

Luunja vald kuulub Tartu linnapiirkonna koosseisu ja on paljudes eluvaldkondade toimimises seotud Tartu linnaga. Vallas on 20 küla ja üks alevik. Rahvaarvult suurim on Lohkva küla. Kohalikeks tömbekeskusteks küladele on Lohkva, Luunja ja Kavastu, mis on endisaegsete ühismajandite keskused. Intensiivne ehitustegevus on valda toonud hulgaliselt uusi elanikke, rahvastikuregistri andmetel on elanike arv aastatel 2007-2015 kasvanud enam kui 1000 inimese võrra. Luunja valla arengut mõjutab oluliselt Tartu valglinnastumise protsess. Märkimisväärne osa rahvastikust elab Lohkva (1181 elanikku) ja Veibri (577) külates, mis asuvad Tartu linna administratiivpiiril. Linnast kaugemale jäävates külates asustustihedus oluliselt langeb ja tegu on pigem maalise elulaadi viljelemisega.

Luunja valla ühendamisel Vabariigi Valitsuse algatusel tuleb kaaluda ettepaneku esitamisel kahe võimaluse vahel – ühendamine Tartu vallaga või Tartu linnaga. Asjakohane ei ole Luunja valla ühendamine Haaslava, Mäksa ja Võnnu valdade baasil moodustuva uue omavalitsusüksusega, mis on märksa maalisema iseloomuga kui Luunja vald ning puudub kogemus ja ressursid Tartu valglinnastumise käigus Tartu linnapiiril kujunenud tiheasustuse piirkondade arendamiseks.

Tartu linnaga ühendamise poolt on järgmised asjaolud:

- Tartu linnaga ühendatakse linnaga kokku kasvanud Lohkva ja Veibri külade tiheasustusalad Luunja vallast viies need ühtse juhtimise alla ja moodustub loogiline planeerimispiirkond. Samas maaliste Luunja valla alade arendamine eeldab keskuslinna käsitlusest erineva linnastu kontseptsiooni rakendamist.

¹ Statistikaamet (2014) Toimepiirkondade määramine.

- Luunja valla Lohkva ja Veibri külates elab ligi pool Luunja valla elanikkonnast, kes saavad ühinemisel Tartu linnaga võimaluse rääkida kaasa arengutes, mis mõjutavad nende tegelikku igapäevast teenuste tarbimist. Olukord, kus elanikud ei saa oma elukeskkonda maksumaksjana mõjutada ja selle arengus kaasa rääkida, ei ole demokraatlik.
- Ühise omavalitsusena on liikumiskeskond paremini korraldatav, et tagada ennekõike keskuslinnas Tartus töökohtade, teenuste ja vaba aja võimaluste kättesaadavus praeguse Luunja valla elanikele.
- Tekivad paremad võimalused läbi planeerimise arendada Tartu linna. Lohkva ja Veibri küla ühinemisel moodustuks loogiline Tartu linna tervikala.

Tartu vallaga ühendamise poolt on järgmised asjaolud:

- Ühinemisel Tartu vallaga saab Vabariigi Valitsuse algatatud ühendamise käigus pakkuda terviklahendused Tartu valla kujundamiseks (arvestades ka teisi ühinevad omavalitsusi) luues parima elukeskkonna ja lahendused elanikele ühises toimealas.
- Tartu vald ja Luunja vald on arengus sama sotsiaal-majandusliku iseloomuga omavalitsused, neil on analoogsed arenguprobleemid ja väljakutsete lahendamine. Neil on vahetud Tartu valglinnastumise mõjuga piirkonnad, sh sisuliselt Tartu linnaga kokku kasvanud alad ning samas on valdadel ka linnalähedase maapiirkonnana Tartu linna vahetust mõjust väljapoole jäävad lähivööndi alad (kuigi ka nendes piirkondades on Tartu linnal suur mõju võimekusega pakkuda töökohti, avalikke teenuseid ja võimalusi vaba aja veetmiseks).
- Luunja ja Tartu vald on teinud väga olulisi pingutusi, et tugevdada omavalitsuste terviklikkust ja sisemist sidusust. Seega on olulisel kohal olnud mõlemas omavalitsuses nii linnalise kui maalise elulaadi toetamine. Sarnasuse tõttu on juhtimiskultuuride ühendamine lihtsam.
- Luunja vallavolikogu on teinud vabatahtliku ühinemise etapis ettepaneku ühinemiseks Tartu vallaga (kes küll keeldus esitatud ettepanekust).

How do I see Quaker Life Representative Council (QLRC)?

~~Take a moment to pause and imagine your ideal Quaker community... What does it look like? How do people behave? What are the conversations about? For me, the image that springs to mind looks very much like QLRC which offers opportunities for learning and deep reflection, some light heartedness and, hopefully, growth on a personal as well as a community level. The content of each gathering has an inspiring and motivating theme, reflecting the current needs, and thinking of British Friends as a whole.~~

~~There is always plenty to take back to Area Meeting and we are encouraged to share our enthusiasms, all we have learned and our experiences as widely as we can. But it is also important for bonding, for taking friendships deeper and for making new friends! QLRC can be seen as an extended family, providing a safe space to explore the things that are eternal as well as those that are frivolous!~~

~~I have now served three years as a deputy and have one more year as the representative for my AM. The whole experience has been nothing but a joy and a privilege. I am extremely thankful to my AM for this appointment and would unreservedly recommend it as a way to serve the AM, to consolidate one's own faith and to discover more of the riches of living a Quaker Life!~~

Meri Goad, East Scotland AM

Document reviewed January 2024

[Feedback from Representatives attending residential weekend Representative Council]

I felt unsure about accepting the nomination to serve on QLRC. As I set off to Woodbrooke for the first time, local Friends seemed confident that I would be able to pick things up as I went along. I was a relatively new attender then, but I need not have worried. Each QLRC meeting generates an astonishing sense of community that I have rarely experienced elsewhere. Being expected to be a two-way channel of communication between QLRC and Lancashire Central and North Area Meeting was daunting at first, but it has gradually become easier, as I have got to know my area meeting better. I have learned a great deal about the work of Quaker Life, coming to appreciate the wealth of expertise amongst the different Quaker Life staff and the creative ideas shared by representatives from other area meetings. I have been able to share many things with my own area meeting and point Friends in the right direction when needing particular support or resources. I have realised the importance of QLRC in enabling Quaker Life staff to connect with Quakers across the UK, helping them to discern the right way forward for the work of different departments. QLRC has also been a great opportunity for me to grow as a Quaker, through getting to know some wonderful Friends and finding unexpected opportunities for further service that have been just right for me.

Kathy Chandler, Lancashire Central & North AM

Like most Friends, when agreeing to be nominated to a particular role in Area Meeting a number of doubts and trepidations set in. What is this group I'm being asked to join? What are the other members like? Much weightier than me, no doubt! How often do they meet? Does Area Meeting want a report after every gathering? How can I possibly share the personal, spiritual and information exchange experiences of a weekend with over a hundred Quakers in a few short moments allocated to me in a busy Area business meeting? But I'm a veteran now. In the final year of my second term. And it gets better all the time. From the start, the friendship and good companionship at meals and in home group sessions has been the most important aspect for me. Being with so many people who share my passion for faith and Quakerism, who listen to me, and who are keen to share their spiritual stories and journeys inspires and encourages me to be open and strong in sharing my journey. Hearing what Quaker Life staff have been doing in the world on our behalf reassures me that the Quaker message and Quaker way of doing things is being broadcast beyond our Meetings. And my Area Meeting listens. They enjoy reading my reports which are factual, but also impressionistic and lively. They appreciate hearing about the support and new services available from Friends House. So, if asked to take on Quaker Life Representative Council as part of your journey into service, say YES!

Michael Long, Northumbria AM

I always look forward to QLRC—the people, the place, the ideas, the worship, the home groups, the entertainment. It's hard to explain how all these things come together to make a truly magical experience—every time. Then one time I arrived in a foul mood, angry about things that happened at home and expecting the mood of QLRC to be rather irritating. As soon as I arrived, someone spotted that I was not myself—a hug and gentle listening, a group helping someone else and by the end of the evening I felt at home with Friends again—still angry about things outside—held in the light, nevertheless. Please decide to go. Every time I have come home refreshed, sometimes much more than that.

Document reviewed January 2024

[Feedback from Representatives attending residential weekend Representative Council]

~~Isobel Dunbar, Hardshaw & Mann AM~~
